

Marketplace for Social Awareness and Social Responsibility Inc.

ABOUT US

The Marketplace for Social Awareness and Social Responsibility is an educational and charitable organization. We promote and support programs, initiatives, and events that address the needs of culturally diverse and economically challenged youth.

The Marketplace for Social Awareness and Social Responsibility provides scholarship funds to help students cover some of their undergraduate educational costs.

OUR VISION

“We believe that if we create a mechanism for us to communicate and share information, a “Marketplace” of sorts, we will be in a better position to collaborate and work collectively. It is for this reason that the Marketplace for Social Awareness and Social Responsibility was launched.

We can leverage social media to promote social awareness and social responsibility. We can create a place where information can be shared, issues discussed, and programs promoted.”

--Ernest R. Heyward, Founder & President
